Stage 1      Bushwhacker Exposed

Under a starlit sky you and your fellow posse members take a break for the night from pursuing bushwhacker thieves. While around the campfire, you and your friends reminisce about the good old days. When it got to his turn, Jared, the biggest of the bunch, starts telling a tale that sounded pretty ordinary, at first, and then took a turn towards the darker side of humanity when he talked. That is when you realize he is a member of the gang that you are tracking.

Stage 2      Lead Poisoning is NOT Good for your Health

In the Old West, many a snake oil salesman visited towns along the trail, preying on gullible people while keeping their stays as short as possible- "one bite and away" was a way of life for them. ### Stage 3      Drunken Duo Diverted

Silver in mines was a boon and a bane to their local towns. Silver yields wages, most of which is spent wisely for frontier families and their homestead needs. But sometimes wages are spent on less honorable pastimes, like trips to the local saloon. Tonight, while eating dinner, the Dunston brothers come staggering down the street, and one of them tries to shoot the oil lamp over your table for target practice... through the window! Act fast, both to protect yourself and dinner from destruction and from these ne'er-do-well ruffians.

Stage 4      Hungry Bastages Get Their Just Desserts

After dispatching the Dunston brothers, you come back to your table and find your steak dinner is missing. As you look around you see two lowlifes smiling and holding up parts of your dinner. As you approach, they decided to run out the door while trying to give you lead instead of money for your stolen meal.
